Other Eastern Rites

With the exception of the Nine Sees of the Byzantine- Ruthenian Rite and the Byzantine-Ukrainian Rite and the Maronite and Melkite Rites as listed in the preceding pages of The Official Catholic Directory, other Eastern Rites in communion with Rome do not have Ordinaries of their own in the United States. Consequently they are under the jurisdiction of the local Ordinary and the various parishes and institutions are incorporated in the Archdiocesan and Diocesan listings. Please consult these pages for full information regarding churches, personnel and statistics. For convenience, however, below are listed the Eastern Rite churches and the cities in which they are located. This listing, of necessity, reflects corrections received the previous year on the reports from the archdioceses and dioceses in question.

JAPAN

The Japan Passionist Missions in central Japan were officially erected on March 9, 1953. At that time, a Retreat Center and canonical foundation with regular observance was established in Takarazuka, a suburb of Osaka. In 1963, a second Retreat Center and canonical foundation was established in Fukuoka in close proximity to a large secular university (students: 26,000), where special apostolates among university students are conducted. Also in 1963, an Apostolic Center and canonical foundation was established in Tokyo in conjunction with a house of religious formation. The Tokyo Apostolic Center conducts various programs, particularly among university students and workers, to spread the faith among the millions of nonchristians of the city. Itinerant preachers from these three centers conduct parish missions and retreats throughout the entire country. A mission parish in the archdiocese of Osaka includes the cities of Ikeda, Kawanishi, part of Takarazuka and approximately 40 sq. miles of mountain territory with a composite population of 210,000. Publication—"Japan Jottings," Quarterly, Mefu, Japan 665.

It is the official agency of the Church through which Catholic children of the world contribute through their prayers and sacrifices to the welfare of children in more than 90 mission countries.
